

Crafted
THE SOBHA WAY

CRAFTSMANSHIP

Craftsmanship has been a hallmark of Sobha ever since Mr. P N C Menon started his career four decades ago. What started as a specialist interior design studio, gradually expanded to all aspects of building quality spaces. Today, Sobha boasts of in-house capabilities in the areas of interior design, facades, structural engineering, MEP (mechanical, electrical and plumbing) contracting and other functional specializations that are critical to delivering quality. Every Sobha creation has a sense of precision and we have perfected it over the years in a way that only we can boast of.

QUALITY

Every aspect of our work is about quality. Whether it's the aluminum, PVC beading on the floor to avoid chipping of tiles or Silicon sealant in the joints to avoid seepage of water, every detail has been perfected over time. All doors are fitted with silicon between door architraves that conceal uneven joints. Weather strips on the doors protect from dust. Masonite skin avoids cracks and expansion during humid conditions. Large windows maximize natural light. There's perhaps no corner of the home that's unaccounted for in terms of quality.

PRECISION

Wooden skeleton of the door frames are filled with honey cell. Six layers of waterproofing prevents water seepage in bathrooms with wall-mounted water closets for easier cleaning of floors. Terraces are coated with a layer of 50 mm expanded polystyrene which ensures reduced heat, minimizes thermal expansion, contractions. Our workmen are trained to attain perfection and work with the most intricate of material without compromising on precision and accuracy. We do it until it's precise. It's a true showcase of passion at work.

TIMELESSNESS

A home should stand the test of time. After all, civilizations of the past have been known by the structures they built. Be it the Roman era or the Mohenjo Daro, what's remembered are the structures they created. At Sobha, we've a dedicated quality control cell comprising of experienced German experts. The German rigour is apparent in every inch of space that we deliver. Be they waterproof primer used to avoid patches or external walls with textured, weather-proof, water-proof, dust resistant paint, the philosophy of 'built to last' is apparent.
